

Anterior cingulate cortex: Subdivision of the cortex, used to focus attention on certain aspects of the environment. It is highly active during depression.

