Constricted uterine placental blood flow: The decrease in blood flow between the mother and the fetus due to the narrowing of the placenta derived from uterine tissue.