Electroencephalography (EEG): A recording of electrical activity over time produced by the brain using electrodes that are attached to the surface of the head.