

Medial temporal lobe: Region of the brain that includes the hippocampus, amygdala (seat of the emotions), and a small cortical region called the rhinal cortex. All these structures are crucial for memory.

