

Anterior cingulate cortex: The ACC is part of the cerebral cortex. It is involved in the perception of pain, reward processing, action monitoring including error detection and theory of mind.

