

Event-related potentials (ERPs): Electrical signals produced by the brain that reflect cerebral activity. These signals are measured by electrodes attached to the head.