

Phenotype: Any observable characteristic or trait of an organism (morphology, development or behavior). It results from the expression of an organism's genes (genotype), the influence of environmental factors and possible interactions between the two.