

Prefrontal cortex: The most anterior subdivision of the frontal cortex located behind the forehead. This brain region has been implicated in carrying out higher ordered executive functions such as attention control, emotion regulation, conflict resolution, the planning of complex goal oriented behaviours and decision making processes.

